A mistake was made in article Bottino CB, Guimarães TF, Gomes FR, D'Acri AM, Lima RB, Martins CJ. Solitary eccrine syringofibroadenoma: a case report. An Bras Dermatol. 2015;90(3 Suppl 1):S235-8.

Image 2 was switched for image 3 and vice-versa. Figure 2 should show the image of a skin lesion (ankle nodule) and Figure 3 should show the image of the histopathological exam. The legends are correct. Follows the corrected images.

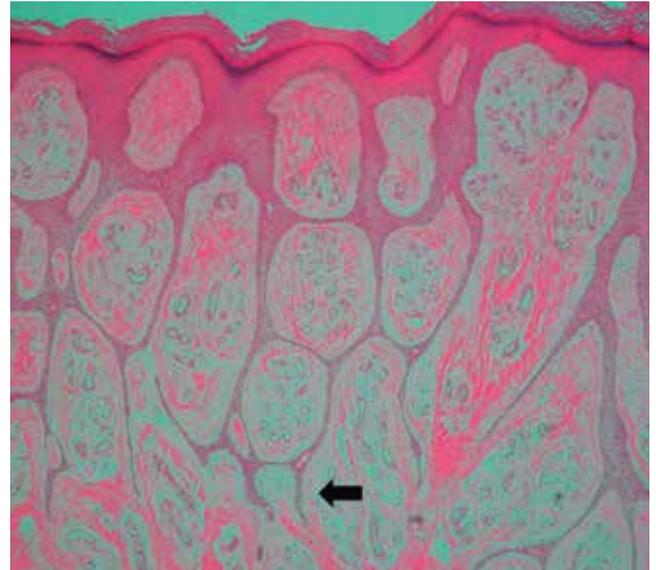

FIGURE 3: Histopathology showing epidermis-derived, intertwined epithelial cords, ending in thin projections. Some of these projections have a typical 'crab claw' appearance (arrow). Between the cords, a rich fibrovascular stroma was present. (HE, 40x)
